

Some things really do concern us about the state of the world today. Is Donald Trump really the President of the USA or is it my nightmare ? It seems quite reasonable to suggest that any group of Probians, with their lifelong experience have something to contribute to the debate. We are all about fun and fellowship but maybe now we should also have opinons.

"I met with Pope Francis today. He's a really great pope; great, great pope. You know he's the leader of the Catholic Church; big church, big, big church. I couldn't believe it when he told me how many Catholics there are. Way more than I thought. They have churches all over the world; some are very, very close (so close) to my hotels and golf courses. "He took me into the Sistine Chapel. Beautiful ceiling. I don't think too many people even know about this place. The paintings are great, phenomenal paintings I'm telling you. The Pope (great guy, by the way, knows more about the Bible than almost anybody, we got along great, I think he really likes me) told me the whole thing was painted by this young Italian; I think his name is Michael Angelo. At least that's what Francis (we're great friends) called him, I think. Trust me, we're going to hear more about him. He's really artistic, and everybody tells me I have the greatest eye for the best art. I told Frank I'd like to buy some of Mike's art. I asked him if Mike's done anything on velvet. He'll check (great guy). I'll hang Mike's stuff at Mar-a-Lago or Trump Tower. He needs more exposure. He's too much with the churches. He could paint my phenomenal presidential portrait on the Capital Dome.

Or maybe a mural on my big, beautiful border wall, but just on our side.

Unbelievable!! The fake media is at it again. I just saw something on TV that Michael died 450 years ago. Sad. Very sad, I've already got some people looking into this and you won't believe what they're finding.

A man and a woman were out having a quiet, romantic dinner in a fine restaurant. They were gazing lovingly at each other and holding hands. The waitress, taking another order at a table a few steps away, suddenly noticed the woman slowly sliding down her chair and under the table - but the man stared straight ahead.

The waitress watched as the woman slid all the way down her chair and out of sight under the table. Still, the man stared straight ahead.

The waitress, thinking this behaviour a bit risqué and worried that it might offend other diners, went over to the table and tactfully said to the man, "Pardon me, sir, but I think your wife just slid under the table."

The man looked up calmly and said, "No, she didn't. She just walked in."

Wacky Australia

The Shield Report from the streets of Melbourne, Australia

For my amusement this morning I was reading a story about the lockdown protests in Melbourne this week where one of the participants suggested that we smash our TV's and some apparently followed suit. Unplugging it or putting it in the garage may have been just as effective in protecting yourself from whatever evils were involved. I was also taken by one protest sign which had so many conspiracies listed they could barely fit them in. Some I have heard of and some were self-explanatory like Epstein island, Plandemic, Clinton emails, 5G is dangerous etc. I decided to look for info on some of the more obscure threats to society. This is what I found.

MKULTRA - A CIA program to examine effects of mind-altering drugs on subjects, not all of them willing participants.

VRIL Society - a pseudo-historical society established in Germany around 1921. Involves advanced aircraft UFO's etc

Fiona Barnett - born in Sydney 1969 claims she was victim of a CIA child trafficking ring, Luciferian ritual abuse and MK Ultra.

Operation paperclip - a program to bring German researchers and scientists to the USA post WW II to help develop weapons for the Cold War with Russia. I had heard of this and appears to be legitimate although numbers involved are unclear.

Lucifer telescope - A large telescope in the Vatican that is used to locate extra-terrestrials and keep findings secret.

There were more but I am bored now. Must be a full-time job keeping up to date with all of these conspiracies. . . . even in Australia. . . David Shield
